Notes for Margot ALEXANDER:

Margot Alexander Moritz passed away at her home on Saturday, February 17, 2013. She was 91.

Margot was born October 14, 1921 in Bonn, Germany to Carola and Fritz Alexander. Her father died when she was two, and her mother remarried three years later, adding brother Bernd and sister Ingrid to the family. As Germany's darkening political scenario in the 1930's made life increasingly difficult for Jews, an aunt in the U.S. helped her get to New York City in 1938. Margot adored her new country with all its freedom and opportunities. It was here, in 1942, that she met the love of her life, Werner Moritz, a German immigrant serving in the U.S. Army. Although he was soon transferred to Washington, D.C., their love endured, and six months later, on January 2, 1943, they married in New York during his furlough. The couple lived in Alexandria, VA until Werner was shipped overseas, and Margot returned to New York. After the war they lived in New York City, where Werner started his own business, and where they had two children, Joan and Paul. The family moved to Teaneck, NJ in 1954, and relocated permanently to Charlotte in 1962.

Margot was a devoted mother who loved traveling the world with her husband, listening to opera (she was a huge fan of Luciano Pavarotti and Three Tenors), attending theatre and symphony, reading books, and wearing beautiful clothes, but she also prized the simple pleasure of lunch with friends. She had especially fond memories of lunches at the Belk cafeteria, where staff knew her by name.

Volunteer work was very important in her life. She was extremely active at Temple Beth El (Decorating Committee, Welcoming Committee, Hadassah, Sisterhood), volunteered for 15 years at Presbyterian Hospital in the gift shop and at the reception desk, and also worked in the office of Charlotte Hospice.

Margot Moritz will be remembered for her great love of family and friends, for her generosity of spirit, her sense of humor, and for living her life with unflinching dignity, beauty and grace.

Mrs. Moritz is survived by her daughter, Joan, of Seattle, WA; her son, Paul, his partner Ellen Myers and her son, Sam, of Charlotte; her brother, Bernd and his wife Erika, niece, Karen Haase-Gray, nephew, Kai Ihringer, and their families, all of New Jersey; and many, many dear friends in Charlotte, including friends made in the last five years at the Cypress Retirement Community. She is predeceased by her beloved husband of 67 years, Werner Moritz.

Services will be held on Wednesday, February 20th at Temple Beth El at 1:30 pm, with friends and family welcome beginning at 1:00 pm. Interment will follow at Hebrew Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made in Margot's name to the North Carolina Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, or to Jewish Family Services.

The family would especially like to thank the amazing caregivers of Hospice & Palliative Care Charlotte Region, particularly Lisa and Jill, who made our mother's life so much easier in her final days. We are indebted forever to her trusted companion, Leah, who was there for Mom in every way.

Werner MORITZ^{18, 37-39} was employed as a textile printing business.

Sanford M. Jacoby, Distinguished Research Professor, began his career at UCLA Anderson shortly after graduating from UC Berkeley with a Ph.D. in economics. He also holds professorial appointments in UCLA's Department of History and Department of Public Policy. He is involved with various interdisciplinary groups at UCLA, such as the Institute for Research on Labor and Employment and the Terasaki Center for Japanese Studies.

Jacoby credits the late Lloyd Ulman, his graduate school mentor and "one of the best labor economists of his generation," with spurring his interest in economics. "He was also a comparativist and historical institutionalist, orientations that I came to share," Jacoby says. "In graduate school, Lloyd kept me on a long leash, allowing me to wander, but eventually yanked me back to the theoretical rigor of economics."

Though trained as an economist, Jacoby values and draws from history, law and sociology. His research uses comparative, historical and statistical methods to analyze employers, labor market institutions, and international political economy. "These topics are situated at the confluence of several areas," he explains.

Jacoby's first book, Employing Bureaucracy: Managers, Unions, and the Transformation of Work in the Twentieth Century (1985, 2004), won the George Terry Book Award from the Academy of Management. His next book, Modern Manors: Welfare Capitalism Since the New Deal, was published in 1997 and received the Philip Taft Labor History Award. Another book, The Embedded Corporation: Corporate Governance and Employment Relations in Japan and the United States, was translated into Chinese and Japanese and identified by Nikkei Shinbun as one of the top three books on economics and management published in 2005. He edited two collections: Masters to Managers: Historical and Comparative Perspectives on Employers (1991) and The Workers of Nations: Industrial Relations in a Global Economy (1995).

Jacoby is the author of over ninety articles. His research has appeared in leading journals in several fields that include economics, history, industrial relations and law. He is co-editor of Comparative Labor Law & Policy Journal and serves on the editorial boards of scholarly journals in the United States and abroad. Jacoby has been a visiting professor at Doshisha University, the London School of Economics and Political Science, the University of Manchester, the University of Tokyo and Waseda University. Jacoby's Guggenheim project, which is the topic of his next book, studies the reaction of labor movements to financialization in the United States, focusing on pension fund activism, regulatory efforts, and corporate governance.

Jacoby is also working on two other projects, both related to Japan. One is a study of Uber's delayed entry into the Japanese market. The other examines the phenomenon of "black companies," places that engage in exploitative working practices, particularly long hours of work.

Jacoby is a native New Yorker with roots in the Washington Heights neighborhood of Manhattan, a former German-Jewish refugee community. He was introduced to California through his studies at Berkeley and found the culture and climate suited him. His passion for the state continues with his hobby of growing and studying the native plants.
